Media coverage losing Pope Paul's message

CHICAGO (AP) — Pope John Paul II begins his frenetic pastoral tour of America cross-country Thursday to the nation's largest Roman Catholic archdiocese after jetting from Philadelphia to Des Moines, Iowa.

The pontiff will spend 38 hours in Chicago, the longest single stop on his six-city tour and his third trip to the city but his first as pope.

The highlight of his Chicago stay will be Friday's Mass concelebrated with 15 cardinals and 350 bishops before more than 1 million followers in downtown Grant Park along Lake Michigan.

In Chicago, home of an estimated 800,000 to 900,000 Polish Catholics, the Polish pope also will deliver the only Mass in his native tongue during the trip, will meet with the nation's bishops and will listen to the Chicago Symphony Orchestra perform at Holy Name Cathedral.

The massive security, and the jubilant, cheering throngs that have marked John Paul's trip to Ireland and his first three days in the United States will continue. He is also expected to be greeted with pleasant, sunny fall temperatures of about 60 Thursday, turning cloudy on Friday.

In keeping with his humble demeanor and his previous stops on the trip, the pope will not see only the opulent parts of Chicago. Though he will be sleeping at the archbishop's home in the posh Gold Coast area, he will stop at a church in a poor Latino community and drive through black and other ethnic areas of the city.

About 4,000 police and 700 firemen will be on duty to secure motorcade routes and sites that the pope will visit. Most of the downtown area will be closed to all but public transportation Friday to accommodate the outpouring expected to crowd the park.

A 17,000-square-foot, multi-level, cruciform-shaped platform costing $212,000 has been built there for the Mass. The platform will elevate the pope 15 feet high, 11 American and four visiting cardinals 10 feet and the bishops 6 feet above ground.

There are officially 2,415,354 Catholics in the Chicago archdiocese, and city officials have estimated that more than half will attend the Mass, though the archdiocese had been much more conservative in its estimates.

On this trip, as in those to Mexico and Poland since John Paul II attained the seat of St. Peter about a year ago, he has exuded warmth, emotion, enthusiasm and love while pleading for peace, humanity, sharing of wealth, help for the impoverished and prayer.

Frisbees, students fly high at second tokefest

by Carolyn Waller

Frisbees, dogs, joints and bongos were all a part of Eastern's second annual Oc'toker'fest Wednesday.

By 1 p.m. the Library Quad slowly filled to a crowd of about 200 students.

Students who participated said they weren't there to make a social statement, but came "to get high" and "to see who else showed up."

Non-smokers and cigarette smokers were also socializing at the Oc'toker'fest.

One freshman said she was a regular pot smoker, but didn't think pot should be legalized because people will get away.

Other participants said they were regular smokers, but were divided on the issue of legalization of pot.

One sophomore said she attended last year's Oc'toker'fest and wasn't worried about police or arrests this year.

None of the students wished to be identified.

Captain Jack Chambers of the campus police said Tuesday, "Anybody in possession of marijuana should bear in mind that it's illegal."

However, Wednesday, Chambers said, "We carried on business as usual. As far as we were concerned it was no big deal."

No arrests were made yesterday or at last year's Oc'toker'fest which drew a large crowd.

Students began gathering at "high noon on the library quad Wednesday to participate in a smoke-in and socialize. Several students said they came to protest the laws prohibiting the use of marijuana, while others just came for the buzz. Smokers, tokers and just plain jokers enjoyed the cool, autumn afternoon in high style. (News photo by Debbie Oller)

Teachers now educating under new contract

by Melinda DeVries

Eastern's faculty members are no longer working under last year's contract because the Board of Governors' executive committee gave final approval to a new contract Wednesday.

A BOG spokesman said Wednesday the executive committee unanimously approved the tentative contract settlement that was reached Aug. 31 between the AFT, faculty union, and the BOG, governing system for Chicago State, Governors State, Northeastern Illinois, Eastern Illinois and Western Illinois universities.

The executive committee is a standing board that may take action whenever the BOG is not in session, Martha Fletcher, administrative aid for BOG Executive Director Donald Walters, said.

"It states in the BOG bylaws that when the board is not in session the executive committee may take action on any items," Fletcher said.

The executive BOG committee consists of three members — Leon Davis, committee chairman, Dominica Vufalino, committee vice chairman and Evelyn Kuefman, committee member.

The approval action that the BOG executive committee made will be presented to the entire board at its Oct. 25 meeting, Fletcher said.

All provisions in the new contract will take effect Oct. 3, Margaret Schmid, AFT president for all BOG schools, said Wednesday.

The three main provisions included in the new contract are personnel, work loads and salary.

The salary provision includes a basic salary increase of four percent of the faculty member's 78 - 79 salary plus $80 a month.

The provisions for personnel include identification of eligibility for promotion, retention and tenure.

Work load provisions include identification of the maximum and minimum number of classes a faculty member can teach.

The AFT had approved the tentative contract settlement by an 89 percent margin Monday.

The faculty votes from all BOG schools were sent to Hinsdale, Ill. where they were counted Monday.

The results of the vote will be presented to the AFT at a meeting Thursday. At that meeting, the contract will be formally ratified, Schmid said.

Schmid said Wednesday, "I think it is wonderful that the contract was approved by the BOG."

"It does not surprise me a bit that the contract was approved since it was a good contract," she said.

Jeff Sopko, student collective bargaining representative at Eastern, said Wednesday, "I was happy that it (the contract) came to a quick settlement and that there was no strike."

The AFT and the BOG had a working atmosphere instead of a "I hate you" atmosphere like the teachers of Charleston had during their recent negotiations, Sopko said.

Decision no help in nuke question

SPRINGFIELD — If a state Supreme Court ruling this week had instead been handed down months ago, Illinois Power Co. probably would not be snarled in its current battle over costs of building a nuclear power plant at Clinton, a utility official said Wednesday.

But the court decision, handed down Tuesday, probably comes too late to alter the struggle between Illinois Power and activist groups before the Illinois Commerce Commission, said Miro Mladiner.

At issue is the utility's effort in a $92 million rate increase request before the ICC to include as company assets some costs of building its Clinton atomic power plant, which is now under construction.

Normally, power plants are not allowed to be figured as a utility's assets—from which basic rates are largely derived—until the plants are finished and commercially productive, said Mladiner, manager of Illinois Power's Rates Division.

He said the utility is "short on cash" and having a difficult time repaying huge debts to investors that accrued mostly in trying to build the Clinton nuclear station. He said the cash problem stems in large part because of the accounting method used by the commerce commission to determine the total value of a utility's assets.

Since 1973, the commerce commission has held that it would determine the worth of a utility's assets based on their original cost, and not a current, fair-value cost for replacing those same assets.

But justices ruled that such an accounting method was too inflexible because it failed to consider rising or falling prices.

(AP) News shorts

"The rates under fair value would be hard to distinguish from those under the original cost method," said Mladiner. "But fair value would alleviate much of the cash flow problems we have now."

"If we'd have had this opinion when we first asked for this rate increase, we probably would not have had a need to include Clinton's construction costs in the request," he said.

At least five citizens' anti-nuclear and activist groups have accused Illinois Power of cost overruns, delays and mismanagement.

Carter birthday not a happy one

WASHINGTON — President Carter says he is learning to accept criticism, although he doesn't like it.

Carter, who has had his share of criticism, made the comment while doing some personal stock-taking in advance of his 55th birthday last Monday.

In a birthday interview with Irude B. Feldman, a White House reporter, Carter said, "In addition to seeking forgiveness and feeling remorse for our sins and shortcomings, we must remember to judge ourselves more harshly than we judge others."

So how does he judge himself?

For one thing: "I, like most people, don't enjoy criticism. But, only recently, I've learned to accept it with some degree of equanimity."

UAW strikers bar plant gates

PEORIA — Striking United Auto Workers, angered when a picket was allegedly struck by a car, blocked entrances seemingly at random Wednesday at two Caterpillar Tractor Co. plants.

Most management employees eventually were able to enter through other gates at Caterpillar's diesel engine workers north of Peoria, but most at the plant south of the city gave up and went back home, a company spokesman said.

There were no similar incidents reported at Caterpillar plants in East Peoria and the distribution center east of town. No injuries were reported and there was no record of anyone being hospitalized.

More than 23,000 UAW workers are on strike in the Peoria area, shutting down Caterpillar's sprawling operations here where most of its U.S. assembly of construction machinery takes place.

Officials receive poisonous letter

SAN JOSE, Calif. — Health officials, warned by a bizarre anonymous letter, said Wednesday that hundreds of people may have been exposed to a suspected cancer-causing chemical deliberately dumped in three swimming pools.

Traces of Silvex, a powerful herbicide, and the chemical 2, 4-D, which contains the suspected carcinogen dioxin, were discovered last week in a pool at Oakwood Gardens North, a 1,000-unit complex in west San Jose.

So far nobody has reported ill effects from swimming in the contaminated water.

Rate of serious crime up slightly

SPRINGFIELD — After two straight years of a downward trend, the number of serious crimes reported in Illinois increased slightly in 1978, according to a report released Wednesday by the state Department of Law Enforcement.

The report showed property crimes were down slightly, but crimes of violence jumped by more than 3 percent. A top law enforcement official said last year's severe winter weather probably contributed to both the property crime decrease and the surge in violent crime.

The report, compiled from statistics provided by more than 1,000 law enforcement agencies in Illinois, showed that in 1978 a total of 549,666 serious crimes were reported, or 0.4 percent more than 1977.

That compared with decreases of 2.4 percent in 1977 and of 5.9 percent in 1976.

While the increase in overall serious crime in 1978 was slight, the report showed an 8.2 percent jump in the number of reported violent crimes—murder and attempted murder, voluntary manslaughter, rape, robbery and armed robbery, aggravated assault and aggravated battery.

Hickman to finalize twin city pact in Taiwan

by Jane Meyer

A reunion between two sisters, sister cities that is, will take place when Mayor Bob Hickman of Charleston, his wife Carol, and a member of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce, Carl McSparin, and his wife Marlowe arrive in Fengshan, Taiwan Saturday.

Hickman said Wednesday the group will be leaving Charleston on Thursday and should arrive in the capital city of Taipei early Saturday.

During their visit, Mayor Hickman and the mayor of Fengshan will officially sign a resolution adopted by the Charleston City Council last year which proclaims the two as sister cities.

Hickman said the idea to adopt Fengshan as a sister city was brought about by his neighbor, Robert Chen, a native of Taiwan. Chen is employed at South Library.

Eastern is also involved on a similar basis with Fengshan. Kaohsiung Teacher's College is a sister university of Eastern, as part of an exchange program with Taiwanese students. Hickman said.

Mayor Bob Hickman
Heads for Taiwan

"The proclaiming of Charleston and Fengshan as sister cities will help promote a better understanding and hopefully show an exchange of peaceful diplomatic relations with Taiwan," Hickman said. Hickman said he received an invitation last year from Fengshan to participate in the nation's independence celebration which will be held on Oct. 10.

Hickman said that since the celebration is held on the tenth day of the tenth month, it is referred to "Double Ten Day."

The Charleston delegation will be staying in the capital city throughout much of the trip, visiting Fengshan on Monday and Tuesday.

Hickman said he hopes to have a function with the Taiwanese students at Eastern when he returns and exchange messages he received while in Taiwan.

Committee resets meetings

by Lisa Lair

The Legislative Leadership Committee has rescheduled its meeting in order to allow more time to conduct business.

Legislative Leadership acts as an advisory committee, making recommendations for appointments to the Senate.

Bob Glover, Secretary of the Senate, said this arrangement left little time for discussion of any new business, and that senate members complained of not being able to contact persons who were interviewed and recommended by the committee prior to their approval by senate.

Glover said this arrangement left little time for discussion of any new business, and that senate members complained of not being able to contact persons who were interviewed and recommended by the committee prior to their approval by senate.

With the new meeting schedule, members have a full day in which to make any contacts, Glover said.

At one of their first meetings in the new time slot, the committee made recommendations on the presidential appointments which were announced last week in the student senate meeting. Those persons approved include Bruce Swart and Cindy Will, Council on Teacher Education; Dave Hedeman, Sports and Recreation alternate member; Jeff Kehl, Sports and Recreation member; Steve Abdo, Intercollegiate Athletic Board alternate member; Alan Siepker, Judicial Board member; and Jackie Cortese, Executive secretary to the Senate secretary.

CAA to review math recommendation

The Council on Academic Affairs will consider the mathematics department's recommendations on the general education math proposal Thursday, CAA Chairman Stephen Whitley said.

The CAA is considering the requirement of a 3-hour math course for Eastern students. The math department has compiled a report on what would be involved in instituting such a course.

In other business, the CAA will act on the home economics course revision requests which were tabled in last week's meeting.

Pope: spiritual values must not succumb to materialism

The news media across the country has captured the spectacular of Pope John Paul II's visit to the United States. The vast crowds, the large outdoor masses and the speeches that have been printed or broadcast in the media.

What may be lost during this American trip is the message the pontiff is trying to deliver to the world, and particularly to America. His message is a simple one: spiritual values should not be abandoned for materialistic goals.

The pope said "Man lives at the same time both in the world of material values and in that of spiritual values." But he goes further in developing a thesis of what values are more important, more basic.

"It is the spiritual values that are pre-eminent, both on account of the nature of these values and also for the reasons concerning the good of man.

"The pre-eminence of the values of the spirit defines the proper sense of earthly material goods and the way to use them."

But there is a conflict here between man's representation toward what is the pre-eminent value system he or she will employ in his or her lifetime.

Since the age of industrialization, the desire of material wealth and goods has been a paramount goal of the American Dream. It is defined within the culture that success is measured by how much material goods one could accumulate in a lifetime.

With the personal drive to attain some measure of success, something in one's life must be sacrificed or placed lower in an individual's priorities.

This re-arrangement of values has to be determined by some system, usually the goals of the individual, through moral development.

The spiritual development of man enables man to have "full access to truth, moral development, and complete possibility of enjoying the goods of culture," the pontiff said.

He qualifies the growth of material goals

Paul Pinderski

when he said it "was easy to see that material goods do not have unlimited capacity for satisfying the needs of man: They are not in themselves easily distributed and in the relationship between those who possess and enjoy them and those who are without them."

This is the reality of any industrial system. There are some individuals who prosper from the work they do; but there is a limit to the total amount of wealth in the system.

The classifications between the two, those who have wealth and those who do not, breed tension, dissension, and division that leads to open conflict.

The pope said human existence has been chiefly reduced to material and economic factors. "Is this not the result of having man subordinated to one single conception and sphere of values?"

And he answered it in his travels these past weeks. The material conception is overtaking man's value system throughout the world. In his trip to Ireland, he addressed the war between the two factions over the control of Northern Ireland.

His recent motorcade shows the poor sections of New York City, the Harlem and Hispanic neighborhoods, as living proof of the system's injustice to people who have not or can not attain enough material goods to prosper.

John Paul said that spiritual values can diminish the conflict between the divided people of the world; that spiritual goods are "open to the unlimited enjoyment by many at the same time" while material goods are sheltered by a small minority of people.

By a greater emphasis or return to the spiritual aspects of mankind, the moral fiber of the world, people will have better communication, better association and more united goals.

By man's essential needs being filled, man can reach the full human dimension between materialism and spiritualism.

The pope said that certain fundamental human rights are essential needs to reach this dimension.

He listed the right to life, liberty and security of person; the right to food, clothing, housing and health care; the right of freedom of expression, education and culture; freedom of religion, whether individually or with community; right to assembly and association and the right to participate in the political system to which one belongs.

To the American way of thinking, these basic human rights have been assimilated into our culture. But in other areas of the world, it has not.

But the statements were directed to Americans as well. In the quest to attain the highest possible standard of living, the Western world throughout history has exploited weaker societies for their own personal gains.

Material wealth by Western culture dominated the Third World until recent decades where independent states have emerged to replace colonial governments.

John Paul added that there are two major threats to the modern world: human rights violations in the international relations and human rights violations in individual states and societies.

Human rights are closely tied to the lack of a spiritual dimension in life, which has been weakened by greed, materialism and personal value systems that conflict with universal goals.

This is the message John Paul is bringing to the United States, a message that spiritual development must not succumb to a materialistic philosophy as the only way of life in America.

Free speech?

Editor,

A common topic of discussion on campus and in the newspapers, both local and national, is apathy. Why are people so apathetic?

The First Amendment promises us freedom of expression. But why do so few use it? I think part of the explanation lies in the way it is applied.

While we all talk of our First Amendment rights, how many of us are able to apply them to the full extent of their meaning? It seems to me that we have a self-perpetuating policy of selective freedom of speech. Here I will list a few attempts (both successful and unsuccessful) to prohibit people from exercising their freedom to speak.

The first I will use is from the "McCarthy era." From this period, stories abound of people, who because of their association with or even the less the mere leveling of charges of communism, were denied work (as in Hollywood "blackballing") or creative freedom. Just becoming informed on the subject being dealt with, by reading Marxist-Leninist works, was tantamount to treason.

During the 1960s Rev. Martin Luther King and his group were followed and investigated extensively by the F.B.I. in order to quiet his storm, a storm created not of violence and hatred but of pacifism and hope.

Also in the 1960s members of the anti-war movement were investigated. The examples of force being used to quell the campus demonstrations are well known for the tragedy they created, including four deaths at Kent State.

But we need not look that far back for an example. Not long ago it took an expensive series of lawsuits to permit the highly unpopular neo-Nazis to march.

Admittedly they are unpopular. Admittedly they are racist. They are also Americans. Their rights are promised in the First Amendment. But the real point is that someone tried to suppress those rights.

In this atmosphere of suppression it is understandable why people say little or nothing, when anything but the popular viewpoint might cause trouble.

There are plenty of people to speak popular views, so why speak? The question is are all of the solutions to our problems always incorporated in the popular viewpoint?

No, they are not! What is being done, in effect, is to suppress the new, the different and the minority view. Thus leaving the stagnate which will, under these conditions, perpetuate itself.

So why, in this situation, is a person going to speak out? Why risk being unpopular or worse?

Instead of blaming Americans for everything from inflation (they spend too much) to apathy (they won't vote), let's look at the problem and solve it.

Leo VanCleave

All letters to the editor must carry the name, address and telephone number of their authors for identification purposes. Letters which do not carry this information will not be published. Names will be withheld upon written request. Letters should be typed and should not exceed 250 words in length. Letters will be edited only for libelous material or space consideration.

Center gives job picture

by Carolyn Waller

Shifting, changing and turnovers move the job market in different directions constantly.

Consequently the Placement Center at Eastern continuously updates its list of available jobs and keeps students abreast of these changes.

Some of the jobs currently in demand include those in the fields of accounting, data processing, industrial technology and teaching, Robert Jones and Jay Knott of the center said recently.

In the education field Knott said, "There's not a surplus of teachers anymore."

Jones, who places teacher education majors, said beginning last year there was a teacher shortage.

He added that out of 579 teacher education majors at Eastern, 62 per cent were placed in 1978.

"Placement bulletins and campus interviews are the ways most students

Guitarist to give concert in Dvorak

Guitarist Robert Wolff will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday in Dvorak Concert Hall.

Joseph Martin of the music department said Wolff is one of the most distinguished guitarists of his generation.

Wolff has studied at the Vienna Conservatory of Music and received his doctorate from the University of Vienna, Martin said.

Wolff's program will contain selections from the Baroque era, as well as contemporary compositions for the guitar, Martin said.

Martin said Wolff's selections will include compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach; Franz Burkhardt, Wolff's former teacher at the Vienna Conservatory; Spanish composers Joaquin Turina and Isaac Albeniz and Swiss composer Frank Martin.

Admission is $1.50 for the general public and $1 for Eastern students and senior citizens, Martin said.

Streisand movie scheduled in dorms

The Residence Hall Association will show "The Way We Were" this week, featuring Barbra Streisand and Robert Redford.

On Thursday it will be shown in Roman Hall at 6 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. and in East Hall at 8:15 p.m.

On Saturday the movie will be shown in Pemberton at 6 p.m., in Andrews at 7 p.m., in Lawson at 8 p.m., in Weller at 9 p.m. and in the Polk-Stevenson-Douglas complex at 10 p.m.

Jones said Eastern has gone from about 1400 teacher education majors in previous years to about 600 last year.

Out of 385 students registered at the office last year, 74 per cent were placed, Jones said.

He added that the Placement Center now has a program to help students find graduate assistantships.

Coffeehouse to host Boston street singer

A Boston street singer will be the University Board's Coffeehouse feature Thursday, UB Coffeehouse Coordinator Jan Knoche said Tuesday.

Stephen Baird, who will perform from 8 to 10 p.m. in the Rathskeller, plays a variety of classical and traditional music, ballads, children's songs and drinking songs, Knoche said.

Baird, who was instrumental in getting street singing legalized in Boston, has written three books on his art, Knoche said.

Knoche said "On the Street" is an account of various street artists Baird has met.

"The Right to Sing" is a collection Baird has made of letters and articles in the merits of the street art, Knoche said.

"Looking Back" is a collection of the poems, pictures and notes Baird's audiences have given him, Knoche said.

Knoche said Baird will also perform in the Library Quad Thursday afternoon.

The admission for Baird's performance is 50 cents.

Allen, Meadows to appear for parents, entertainment

by David White
Entertainment by Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows will highlight Parents Weekend this year.

Allen and Meadows will perform at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Nov. 3 in the Laniz Building, Ann. Cavanagh, assistant director of Student Activities said.

Tickets are available for $6, Cavanagh said. Seats were available earlier for $7, but these are sold out, Cavanagh said.

She added that all seats are reserved. Kicking off the weekend will be a faculty music concert at 8 p.m. Nov. 2 in Dvorak Concert Hall.

Faculty members, either individually or in small groups, will give a concert for students and their parents, Cavanagh said.

An activity fair will be held Nov. 3 in the library quad beginning at 10 a.m. The fair will include booths from many student organizations, and parents can walk through to see what each organization does, Cavanagh said.

At 11 a.m. a box lunch will be sold at the Union vending lounge, Cavanagh said. The lunch will include a submarine sandwich, salad, fruit and dessert and will cost $2.75, Cavanagh said.

Tickets must be purchased in advance, she added.

At 1 p.m. parents will get a chance to see the Eastern football team in action against the Youngstown Penguins.

Parents may purchase tickets in the parents' reserved section, which allows a student to sit with his parents for $1.50, Cavanagh said. Parents' reserve seats will cost $4.50, she said.

Following the game, from 4:30 to 7 p.m., a candlelight buffet will be held. The buffet will be set up in the Union addition Grand Ballroom, the Union Ballroom, the Rathskeller and the Union cafeteria, Cavanagh said.

The meal will include roast beef, a vegetable and dessert, Cavanagh said. Tickets are $6 and must be purchased in advance, she added.

Cavanagh said motel reservations for the weekend should be obtained in advance. She added that all Charleston motels are full for the weekend, but that nearby towns may still have rooms.

Sewer problems close Harrison

Harrison Avenue between 14th Street and Route 130 was closed Tuesday due to storm sewer construction which will continue for two or three weeks.

E.O. Reed, Charleston city engineer, said construction will mainly consist of improving the current storm sewer system so that it can handle a larger flow of water during storms.

Workers will also fill in ditches dug during construction on Route 130, Reed said.

All through traffic should seek alternate routes, as only local traffic will have access to the road, he said.

Reed said traffic going East and West can use Madison, Jackson or Monroe streets.

Cobb, Gossett among best in Division II statistics

Eastern's punter Jeff Gossett has regained his No. 1 spot and several other Panthers are listed among the leaders in this week's NCAA Division II football statistics.

Gossett, who led the nation in punting in 1977, has punted 18 times this season for a 43.3 average.

Gossett's nearest competition is from Jeff Hintelman of Valparaiso who has a 42.7 average.

Panther running back Poke Cobb and wide receiver James Warring are also ranked near the top in individual statistics.

Cobb is ranked second in rushing to another Mid-Continent Conference player, Paul Winters of Akron. Winters has an average of 149.3 yards per game, while Cobb is averaging 145.6 yards per game.

Cobb needs to average 113 yards per game for the rest of the regular season to get the Division II career rushing record. He also needs just three 100 yard games to tie the record for the most games over 100 yards which is 25.

Warring is second in catches per game with a 6.2 average behind Scott Sible of the MCC's Northern Michigan who is averaging 7.0 catches per game.

Eastern is second in team scoring with a 37.6 point average per game behind Grand Valley State which is averaging 39.6 points per game.

Grand Valley State also leads team offense with a 524.4 yard average per game.

The Panthers are ranked fourth with a 304.4 yards per game average.

Eastern is also fourth in team rushing with a 242.8 yards per game average. Mississippi College is leading the nation with a 318.5 yards per game average.

In total defense Eastern is fifth with an average of 160 yards per game. Virginia State is first with a 75.6 yard average per game.

Eastern also ranks fifth in rushing defense with an average of 73.6 yards per game, while Virginia State leads with an outstanding 11 yards per game average.

Alumni pressure ABC to televise Eastern-Western game in Chicago

Alumni from Eastern and Western Illinois universities are trying to get their alma mater's regionally televised football game on Saturday shown in Chicago, but they are apparently fighting a losing battle.

The Eastern-Western game is scheduled to be televised by ABC affiliates WAND-Channel 17 in Decatur and WRAU-Channel 19 in Peoria.

A large number of alumni from both Eastern and Western have been calling WLS-TV in Chicago to get the Mid-Continent game on that ABC affiliate Saturday.

A network spokesperson in New York said, however "there is no possibility at all" that the game will be carried on the Chicago station.

WLS-TV is slated to air the Michigan-Michigan State game Saturday.

The contracts have been signed and all the arrangements are already complete. They can't be changed no matter how many people call," the ABC representative in New York said.

Charles Titus of Alumni Services at Eastern said Wednesday that he had contacted several "key alumni" that lived in the Chicago area and they were planning on calling WLS-TV to request the Eastern-Western game be carried.

"We have about 5,000 Eastern alumni in the Chicago area," Titus said. "If we could just get 1/5 of those to call, it'd be great. And we've also talked to Western which has a lot of alumni in the Chicago area too, and they're doing the same thing."

A spokesperson at WLS-TV said the station had received about 100 calls this week requesting that the Eastern-Western game be carried, but said "locally we have nothing to do with what is put on. We just relay the information to New York and they make the decision."

The spokesperson in New York said the programming scheduling was final, but Titus pointed out that "it was supposed to be last year too."

Last year, however, ABC decided late in the week to put Eastern's NCAA Division II playoff game against Youngstown State and WLS-TV instead of the scheduled Georgia-Georgia Tech game.

"I realize this year it'll be really tough to get on instead of Michigan-Michigan State, but at least we're hammering away at it."

Titus said Eastern alumni may also try to get the game on ABC's affiliate WTVW-Channel 7, in Evansville, Ind. The station is currently scheduled to show the Michigan-Michigan State game.

Wright makes unexpected appearance vs. SIU-C

by Dave Claypool

Before traveling to Carbondale for the Southern-Eastern football game, second-string quarterback Chuck Wright didn't anticipate playing against the Salukis.

But with Eastern trailing 14-10 with less than eight minutes remaining in the third quarter, starting quarterback Steve Turk was forced to leave the game with a leg cramp, and Wright got his chance.

"I realized that if I was going to play, Steve would have to go out (of the game) like he did," Wright said.

Wright noted that when Turk first "went down" that he immediately went out to see about his injury. "It all happened too quickly for me to get nervous about playing," Wright said. "I saw Steve go down and my main concern was with his condition."

Wright took over the helm facing a third and four situation on the Southern 34.

"We needed a first down badly and my job was to see that we got it," Wright said.

Wright's first pass was deflected by a Southern defender but he made good on his second attempt, completing a four yard "delay pass" to tight end Rob Mehalic for a first down.

Under Wright's guidance, the Panthers continued to roll all the way down to the Southern 13, where they settled for a 31-yard Dan Dimartino field goal.

"I really wanted the six (points) but the delay of game penalty we got on the Southern five really hurt the drive," Wright said.

Wright continued to spearhead the offense for the first two plays of the Panthers proceeding before Turk returned to the field.

"I was glad to see that Steve was OK," Wright said. "My job is to back-up Steve whenever he gets hurt."

When asked whether he thought the team had confidence in him when he replaced Turk, Wright replied that "he hoped so."

Once I proved that I could do my job, the guys were really excited about going down and scoring," Wright said.

Wright, who started 3 years ago for the Panthers, who missed last year because of ineligibility, and said that the lay off has hurt his performances thus far.

"I kept in touch with the coaches last year, but not throwing a ball for a year has slowed me down a bit," Wright said.

While backing up one of the top passers in the nation for Division II, Wright said that he was perfectly content with his playing time.

"I knew coming in that Steve was the number one QB," Wright said. "I just do my best and make the most of my opportunities."

In comparing this year's squad to the day's of when the Panthers were in the cellar Wright said that the present coaches are much more positive than those of three years past.

Reserve quarterback Chuck Wright was given some unaccustomed playing time in Eastern's 22-14 victory over Southern Illinois University-Carbondale last Saturday. (News photo by Rich Bauer)

MCC — from page 12

Northern Michigan, which is 1-1 in conference play and 3-2 overall, has one of the league's hottest performing quarterback's this year, but surprisingly he is not Todd Krueger, who was high in passing and total offense statistics last season.

The past two weeks, however, Phil Kessel has replaced Krueger as the Wildcats' signal caller, and Kessel now leads the league in total offense with an average of 248 yards per game.

Northern Michigan also has the nation's top Division II receiver in Scott Sible, who is averaging seven receptions per game.

Northern Iowa's season statistics are not as good as Northern Michigan's, but UNI beat NMU earlier this season.

For the season UNI is 1-1 in the league and 2-3 overall and ranks last in the MCC in team offense and next to last in defense.

Western Illinois is on the bottom of the league standings at 0-2 and 2-3 despite the fact that the Leathernecks rank second in team offense at 388.6 yards per game.

Ongaro scores two as booters blank ISU

by Kathy Klisares

Eastern's soccer squad took 19 shots on goal against Illinois State University Wednesday, but Ross Ongaro was the only one to make them count.

Leading the team in scoring, Ongaro chalked up two more for the season as he scored both goals in Eastern's 2-0 win.

After a slow first half, the Panthers broke the 0-0 deadlock in the 10th minute of the second half with a straight shot to the right corner of the goal.

Seven minutes later, Ongaro struck again on an assist from fellow co-captain John Jozsa and caught the goalie out of the box for an easy shot.

"We could have easily been ahead 2-0 at the half because the opportunities were there, but our concentration wasn't," coach Schellas Hyndman said.

"With 19 shots on goal, 10 of them could have been goals but, we took a lot of bad percentage shots," Hyndman continued.

In comparison, ISU took only three shots on goal for the game and walked away with their first loss after tying Evansville and Wisconsin-Milwaukee earlier in the season.

Reviewing the game against a first year varsity squad, Hyndman commented, "Overall I was pleased with the team performance. If you're going to miss your goals you might as well miss them in an easy game and save the important goals for a big game when you need them."

Panthers will battle for crown in tough MCC

Eastern's football team is about to begin its drive for an accomplishment that evaded them in last year's NCAA Division II championship season—a conference title.

Even though the Panthers won the national crown last year, they could do no better than third in the tough Mid-Continent Conference last

Catan named 'Defensive Player of the Week'

Pete Catan, Eastern's All-American defensive end, has been named the Mid-Continent Conference's 'Defensive Player of the Week'.

The Panther junior had one of the best contests of his career Saturday, registering six sacks in Eastern's 22-14 victory over Southern Illinois-Carbondale.

Catan was in on 11 tackles in all, and also recovered two fumbles and caused three more.

"That was an All-American performance if I ever saw one," said Eastern defensive coordinator John Teerlinck. "If they picked a player of the nation each week, Pete would deserve it."

Southern head coach Rey Dempsey also had high praise for Catan. "We knew No. 83 was good. He's been well-coached in the pro rush where you go around the tackle and come back to get the quarterback. To be honest, he half destroyed us."

Catan has had 37 tackles in five games so far this season, 10 of which were quarterback sacks. He also has made eight tackles for a loss, recovered two fumbles, forced four others and intercepted one pass.

season when they finished behind both Youngstown State and Akron.

This year the Panthers are favored to grab the league crown, but the other five conference foes will all get a chance at the country's top-ranked Division II team in the next six weeks.

These five teams along with Eastern helped the MCC establish itself as the top conference in Division II last year.

So far this year, MCC teams have a 14-6 record against non-conference competition.

Eastern begins its chase for the MCC title Saturday when it hosts Western Illinois and then plays four more league games in its final five regular season dates.

All the other MCC teams have played at least one game.

Youngstown State and Akron, the two teams which beat Eastern last season, share the early MCC lead with 1-0 marks.

Overall, however, Eastern has gotten off to the most impressive start with five straight wins, including last week's 22-14 success over NCAA Division I-A Southern Illinois-Carbondale.

The Panthers lead MCC teams in total offense with an average of 403.4 yards per game and in defense with a norm of 160 per game.

In individual statistics, Eastern's wide receiver James Warring, running back Poke Cobb and kicker Dan DiMartino are 1-2-3 in scoring with 44, 42 and 38 points respectively; Jeff Gossett leads the league in punting with a 43.3 average; Warring is second in receiving with 6.2 catches per game, Mark Campana is second in kickoff returning with 24.3 yards per chance and Cobb is second in rushing with 145.6 yards per game.

Youngstown, which lost to Eastern in the semifinals of the national playoffs last year, is off to an impressive start and figures to give the Panthers the most trouble in the title chase.

The Penguins are 4-0 and ranked fourth in the Division II poll.

Youngstown's offense is directed by all-MCC quarterback Keith Snoddy, who currently tops the league in passing efficiency.

His favorite target is flanker Jim Ferranti, who also made the all-conference team last year.

Akron, which is 2-2 overall so far, boasts the nation's leading rusher Paul Winters, who is averaging 149 yards per game. The Zips also have a standout kicker and punter in Andy Graham.

Akron's losses have come against Division I-A Indiana State in a 29-28 thriller and to well-regarded Boise State 31-24.
